

How to create your own Ecosphere

Built in a circle, our innovative bug hotel design means that bugs, insects and wildlife can access the structure from whichever direction they find it and will provide shelter all year round.

Constructed using pallets and general waste from around your garden, allotment or outside areas. The number of sections, storeys, height and diameter depends on the location, space and green waste available. The size of the central log will also influence the size of your ecosphere.
